

Professional Liaison Program (PLP)

Recent PLP Success Stories: 2014 to present

Junko Goto, Japan

New career as a certified Government Medical Translator. Former career: Pediatric dentist. Career change was part of her PLP vision.

Maiko Unematsu, Japan

Promotion to Marketing Director, Nestle, Japan, Family Mart major client. Career opportunity was part of her PLP vision.

Akiko Oka, Japan

New sales representative for a major medical firm and mentor for new trainees. Career change was part of her PLP vision.

Jinyoung Jang, Korea

Received promotion upon her return and started MBA Program in Korea was part of her PLP vision.

Alsu Zamaleeva, Russia

Offered a position at Stanford as a Research Associate under a contract. Worked on refining her PLP vision statement and resume. Ph.D from Russia.

Parisa Assar, Iran

Completed a Master's in Science & Management at Stanford, now employed at Google as a Grant Administrator. Part of her PLP vision statement. Gave an invited presentation to the PLP class on her experience as a PLP participant and how it helped her to change her former career as a professional electrical engineer to enter a new career at Google.

Rebecca Lunn, U. S.

Employed as an international specialist with a private company in SF. Was a Fulbright Scholar and lived in Germany for 10 years. Was a PLP co-teacher with Henry Lum, PLP Chair, for one quarter before finding a position. Henry and Rebecca worked on refining her resume and vision statement.